

DASHWOOD GIRL 2ND DRAFT

INT. NEW YORK APARTMENT. NIGHT. 1869.

Mr. Dashwood walks into his living room where he sees his daughter reading one of his manuscripts from the publishing house.

MR. DASHWOOD
What have you gotten into now?

DASHWOOD GIRL
Father are you publishing this?

MR. DASHWOOD
(lovingly)
You shouldn't be reading that.

She is annoyed her father has let a story this good not go published.

DASHWOOD GIRL
What happens to the Little Women?

MR. DASHWOOD
Well --

DASHWOOD GIRL
Tell me you have the rest of this book!

She brushes him off and goes back to the manuscript.